TRACTION SYSTEM

FRANKTON AND MIDDLETOWN LINES TO BE ADDED TO ENTERPRISE.

Work Is Being Rushed-Court at Kokomo Will Try to Stop the Divorce Mill-Telephone Plant Sold.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. ANDERSON, Ind., Oct. 7 .- Frankton and Middletown will be added to the Union Traction Company's interurban electric system which is now being run north, south, east and west from this city. The Middletown line is to leave the Indianapolis-Muncle division at Daleville and run south. The Frankton line will leave the Marion division at Linwood and run east. Both will be ready for opening the same time the Indianapolis and Muncie lines are opened. Contracts were let to-day to the Shimer Fence Company, of this city, for 125 miles of ten-strand wire fence to line the right of way from Indianapolis to Muncie. Work of stringing it will begin in three weeks. The grading to Indianapolis is now over half completed and the big fill at Ingalls has been made. The grading on the Muncie dtvision is practically done to Daleville and from Muncie to Yorktown. The ties will begin to arrive in a few days and the lines will be down this winter.

TO STOP EASY DIVORCES. Court at Kokomo Plans a Radical Line of Campaign.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KOKOMO, Ind., Oct. 7 .- Monday morning, when Judge Mount opens the October term of the Howard Circuit Court, the wrecks of thirty-one matrimonial barques will be on exhibition, the largest number of divorce applications on record in the local courts. But one other case will be up for hearing during the term. In the hope of stopping the "easy divorce" business, the judge has ordered the prosecuting attorney to appear for the defendant in all cases where no answer is filed by the latter, and no more decrees will be issued by default. The plaintiffs will be compelled to show cause of action and give statutory grounds. The judge also threatens to make trouble for a long list of divorced people who have not paid in court costs, a large per cent. of whom remarried the same day. It is proposed to revoke the decree in all such cases, making them subject to prosecution for bigamy. The County Orphans' Home has nineteen inmates. Only two are orphans, the other seventeen being children of divorced parents.

WEDDING CARDS OUT.

Democratic Senatorial Candidate to Marry a Louisville Girl.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. JEFFERSONVILLE, Ind., Oct. 7 .- Cards have been issued announcing the marriage on Oct. 11 of Capt. James W. Fortune, of this city, and Miss Mattle Voerhoeff, of Louisville. The groom was in command of Company E. One-hundred-and-fifty-ninth Indiana, under Col. W. T. Durbin, and served with credit in the late war. He is a wellknown young attorney, and candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator from the counties of Clark, Scott and Jennings. The bride is a member of one of the most prominent families in Louisville, and popular in society. It was her brother, John T. Voerhoeff, who left seven years ago with Lieutenant Peary's expedition for the north pole, and who was lost during that expedition.

He was a single man, his home being at Lagro, where the remains will be taken for burial.

Child Died of Blood Poisoning.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. MUNCIE, Ind., Oct. 7 .- News of the death of the infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Slack was received this afternoon, the child having died this morning in an Indianapolis sanitarium, where it was taken two weeks ago to be treated for blood poisoning. Nearly eight weeks ago the baby was asleep in a cradle, when its mother noticed blood on its face. Further investigation showed one hand covered with blood and a big rat then jumped from the bed Examination showed that the rodent had bitten the child thirteen times on the hand, but did not awaken it. Blood poisoning set in and all efforts to save its life failed. Mr. Slack is a leading Muncle grain merchant.

"Wet Goods" Destroyed by Fire.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. KOKOMO, Ind., Oct. 7 .- The fire department was called to the suburban home of Bachelor Frenchman, who works at the plate-glass factory. The fire revealed a very fine wine cellar. Stored in the premises vere about twenty barrels of the rarest had brought with him across the ocean. The fire lads worked hard to save the liquor, but it was all consumed by the lames. The owner is but little known here. The presence of the valuable "wet goods" was not known until the fire disclosed it.

Fraternal Union Litigation.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. RICHMOND, Ind., Oct. 7 .- Attorney A. C. Lindemuth has returned from Goshen, Ind., where he went to represent the defendants in a case brought by policy holders against the Continental Fraternal Union, now defunct, and the officers. After accepting settlement on their certificates, these policy holders became dissatisfied and brought suit against the order. Later they made the old officers parties to the suit. This part of the case was knocked out of court and the original sult against the order will now come

AS TO TRUSTS. "There should be absolutely no party politics in consideration of the trust question. The party or person who attempts to make political capital out of it is neither wise nor fair. The party that does it is controlled demagogue. Trusts are peculiar to no particular country. They are found in republics; they are found in monarchies and empires. They are found in countries where free trade is the leading principle underlying economic legislation, and they are found in countries that believe in and act on the policy of protection. There is not a mem-ber of the American Congress in either house, in my opinion, but who is eager to do anything that can possibly be done within the Constitution to investigate, regulate, control or even destroy any corporation which is operated against the public good and in restraint of trade among our people. Any political party which in its platform attempts to fix upon the Republican party the birth or development of trusts only demonstrates that it is not candid with the voter and is not worthy of confidence or even of respect.

"I challenge the records of Congress to show a single bill passing the House to carry out the declarations of the Democratic national platform in any shape or form. The Democratic party certainly has no right to be attacking the Republican party for want of action, and their platform declarations of this year are like a burlesque in the presence of a great and trying question. How much better for all of us to be frank on a question of such vital interest to the American people and unite heartily and patriotically to try to understand a trouble and find such additional remedies as will be possible and just and for the good of all. "I think that there must be somewhere lodged the power in this country that can absolutely control the combination that controls the price placed upon its product. I will go further than that, if you please; that power should be strong enough to destroy if the combination cannot be regulated in the interest of the owners of the capital and at the same time in the interest of the public who buy from them. When the combined capital knows that there is not only a regulator, but that regulation can kill if regulations should not be observed, there will be much more likeli-hod of good behavior on the part of the combined capital. This power is already lodged in the state. The state legislature has all power excepting where limited its own constitution or the Constitution the United States. On the other hand, th federal legislature has no power excepting that which is expressly granted by Constitution of the United States or needed to carry out the special grants Congress has gone already nearly as far as it is possible for it to go, except, possibly to extend and enlarge its work. I think it would be much better to have federal legislation so that the treatment of these combinations might be uniform throughout the Nation than to have the peculiar views of each State crystalized into law for the treatment of combinations. But to reach this by federal legislation more power must be given to Congress than I am able to find in the Constitution of the United States. This is not at all impossible. I believe that Congress will ultimately act on the matter for the protection of the people, and I believe that the several States would prompt ly ratify a constitutional amendment looking to the accomplishment of this important end. Such an amendment must be most carefully considered. It is no easy task to frame one, and to legislate thereunder so as to reach the desired results without too much centralization of power in the general government and with-out encroaching upon the power of the

STILL ANOTHER SITE.

Suggestion for Art Association and Y. M. C. A. to Help Each Other.

Some members of Christ Church are now talking of a scheme that has been evolved to provide for the Y. M. C. A., the Art Association and the church simultaneously. It is that the Y. M. C. A. should buy the Christ Church property, erect a handsome building on the site and lease the third, fourth and fifth floors for ten or fifteen years to the Art Association. This plan, it pointed out, would allow the church to dispose of its property, assure to the Y. M. C. A. a rental which would go a long ways toward paying for the construction of the building and bring the Art Association interest on its large fund, which would amount to enough in ten or fifteen years to have more than paid its rent and materially increase the fund and the gallery of pic-tures. The floors of the Y. M. C. A. building would give sufficient room for an art gallery and a school, it is said. Skating Rink Opening.

The Cyclorama skating rink is to be reopened for the winter season on Wednesday evening. The floor has been planed and the surface is in excellent condition for skating. New skates have been added. Cliff Allen, who has managed the Oneida bowling alleys, has been engaged as manager of the rink. The rink will be open morning, afternoon and evening, the morning hours to be devoted to instruction of ladies. There will be music during the afternoon and evening
